Customs Rules

Used Personal effects: Customs rules are quite simple for used personal effects shipments which are broadly separated by Nepalese government as follows:

1. Diplomatic shipment are allowed into Nepal without opening of the goods and with out any duty payment.
2. Duty free privileged shipments: are for officials working in embassy having non diplomatic status / people working in projects are allowed duty free status (depending upon their project's contract with the Nepalese government). These shipments are allowed duty free but can be checked by the customs.
3. Non duty free shipments: Personnel having resident visa and/or work visa in Nepal but NOT having Diplomatic or duty free status have to obtain an "import permit" from the Department of Commerce which can take upto 2 weeks for processing.
4. As all electronics (including computers) are dutiable it is preferred that the client does NOT bring his old electronics in Nepal. If he must bring, then we request that we are given a list of electronics so that we can advice the duty amount and the client can decide to or not to bring those to Nepal.

In Nepal all major brands (and good Chinese brands also) are available at very reasonable rates.

Goods of daily use such as clothes, books, some furniture, musical instrument, kitchenware/glass & china are allowed duty free.
